Degree Programs International and Interdisciplinary

The UR offers more than 150 Bachelor's, Master's and state examination courses at its twelve faculties. You can find the complete course offers on the following website: www.uni-regensburg.de/studium/studienangebot

These include a variety of international degree programs, such as double degree programs or bi-national programs with partner universities from all over Europe, degree programs with an international focus and Master's programs in English.

English-taught Master's Programs

Almost every faculty at UR now offers at least one Master's program in English, which makes the university even more attractive for international students.

Double Degree Programs

Students whose heart beats for two countries and study locations at the same time can apply for a semester abroad at a partner university as well as directly for our double degree programs such as German-Italian Studies or German-Czech Studies (where they spend half of their studies in Regensburg and the other half in another country).

Interdisciplinary Programs

In order to reflect the diversity of subjects offered at the UR, a number of interdisciplinary degree courses are offered. In addition, a combination of different subjects is possible as part of the combinatorial Bachelor of Arts.

Additional Qualifications

At the UR Center for Languages, students can improve their German and foreign language skills, for example in Arabic, Korean or Turkish.

In addition, the Computer Center offers further study-related training opportunities, such as IT training, as well as many other interdisciplinary additional training courses, including in Intercultural Rhetorical Competence, Gender Competence, Inclusion or German as a Foreign Language. This enables students to expand their skills and position themselves better on the job market later on.

Student Groups

There are a number of groups and working groups at the UR that carry out charitable student work. Existing groups deal with topics such as sustainability, racism and integration, politics, sexuality, religion, diversity and equal rights.

A Campus University

UR covers a campus of 150 hectares at the southern edge of the old historic town that is only 15 minutes away by bus. All the university's buildings are within walking distance of each other. Several cafeterias are located throughout campus and a main dining hall serving lunch is situated in the center of campus.

THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY (UB) is the biggest library in the region, housing 3.8 million books, journals, and digital media. Almost half of the items are located in the different departmental libraries, and freely accessible.

THE COMPUTER CENTER offers a large number of courses for students of all academic fields. Students have free WiFi access all over campus as well as access to computers in any one of the many computer labs.

SPECIAL FACILITIES FOR STUDENTS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

When designing and constructing the UR, the requirements of students with special needs were given high priority. Most parts of the university were built to be wheelchair accessible. Housing for students with special needs is also available. Furthermore, the computer center as well as the library provide special equipment for visually impaired students.

SUSTAINABILITY

The Green Office was set up at the University of Regensburg a few years ago. The focus is on social, ecological and economic sustainability, and student involvement in particular is not only valued, but also actively supported and coordinated, for example through projects and working groups.

LEISURE ACTIVITIES

For those interested in culture and music, the campus offers a wide range of cultural events, but also ample opportunities for personal involvement. There are two symphony orchestras, a chamber orchestra, three jazz ensembles and several choirs to choose from for those interested in music.

The sports center offers a wide range of sports every semester, with courses ranging from aikido to rock climbing, canoeing and yoga.

International Links and Exchanges

UR actively participates in a large number of cooperative partnerships with universities all over the world. Within the framework of the ERASMUS+ program, the university has exchange links with approx. 235 partner institutions in Western and Eastern Europe. Direct exchange agreements are also conducted with 75 universities overseas. Each year, UR welcomes around 300 foreign scholars and 570 exchange students from all over the world.

With the Europaeum, UR has set up an interdisciplinary center for research on and teaching of all aspects pertaining to Eastern European countries. The Bavarian Institution for Higher Education for Central, Eastern, and Southern Europe (BAYHOST), which is a service center for all Bavarian institutions of higher education, is also situated at UR.

Advice and Guidance

The International Office (IO) with its advisors and tutors is the main service point for all international students before and during their studies. Together with other student organizations, the IO has developed a well functioning advisory network for international students.

Every semester, the IO offers orientation programs like "Startklar", excursions, and activities to help international newcomers settle in. Students can build their social networks and get used to the German-Bavarian way of life.

The orientation program „Startklar“ also helps all new international students with administrative tasks such as getting health insurance, registering at the university and the city, course selection and registration for classes.

Information for International Degree-Seeking Students

Universität Regensburg
INTERNATIONAL OFFICE

City and Student Life

The attractiveness of the university is enhanced by the appeal of the city itself, with its ever-present traces of more than 2,000 years of history. Since July 2006, Regensburg has carried the UNESCO distinction “World Heritage”, which recognizes the unique character of the medieval city center and its magnificent architecture - above all the Old Stone Bridge across the Danube and St. Peter’s Cathedral.

The more than 32,000 students of the three Regensburg universities distinctly shape the cityscape and social life. The numerous student pubs, cafés, and beer gardens as well as the many city festivities, such as the yearly Jazz Weekend make Regensburg a popular student city.

Safety in the City and on Campus

International students feel safe at UR and move freely and easily around campus and in the city. Surely this is due to the location of the university.

Students have short walks between the university buildings. In addition, the excellent bus connections and relatively short routes within the city make life in Regensburg very convenient.

Financial Matters

Each semester, students must pay a student service fee of € 208 (as of July 2026) that includes, among other things, a semester ticket for public transportation (both bus and train) in Regensburg and its vicinity.

The average monthly expenses for international students currently amount to a minimum of € 1,000 (including room and board). The Mensa and cafeterias located on campus offer reasonably-priced meals for students. Accommodation prices range from € 300 to € 500 per month. All international students are required to have proof of sufficient health insurance.

Grants

German universities usually do not provide grants nor financial aid programs for international students. There are, however, some organizations that do award scholarships. Information about these organizations can be obtained from official German government offices abroad (embassies and consulates), the Goethe Institutes, or the DAAD (German Academic Exchange Service):

Application and Admission

ACADEMIC REQUIREMENTS

Applicants need to have a school-leaving certificate equivalent to the German “Abitur”. Students applying for a Master’s program must also present a suitable first academic degree (Bachelor or comparable degree).

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENTS

Applicants need to have an intermediate to advanced knowledge of German (level B2/C1). Before formal enrollment admitted students need to pass the “DSH” German language test, generally with level DSH-2. Alternatively, the university accepts the “TestDaF” with a grade of 4 (or better) in all sections. Some subjects may require level DSH-3 (or 4x5 points in the „TestDaF” certificate).

Applicants for degree programs taught in English as well as doctoral candidates with permission to write their dissertation in English are exempt of the German language test.

APPLICATION DEADLINES

July 15 for the winter semester (= October until March)
January 15 for the summer semester (= April until September)

PLEASE BE AWARE

Most Master’s programs as well as some other programs have earlier application deadlines and/or aptitude tests. Applicants should contact the International Office early enough (about 6 months prior to the intended start of studies) for details on the application procedure.

Accommodation in a student residence

The International Office makes every effort to help international students find accommodation in a dormitory. Unfortunately, not all applicants can be provided with a room. In these cases, the International Office can provide addresses of private dormitories and tips on finding accommodation on the private housing market.

Term Dates
